This well kept and nicely presented 964 Carrera 4 with manual gearbox was delivered new to the German market in 1989 as a so called 'Werkauslieferung'; the famous factory delivery.

The 964 is the perfect mix between a classic 911 with everyday creature comforts. When introduced in 1989, the iconic lines of the original 911 remained largely intact, but 85% of the car was brand new. The electric rear spoiler for example, but also modern technology like ABS and power steering. The then new 3.6l engine produces an impressive 250 horsepower. This makes the 964 still pretty quick for today's standards.

Completed in the ever-so-elegant combination of Slate Grey Metallic over Black leather, the list of options indicate some nice creature comfort options. In addition to the great colors, the car also has heated seats and airconditioning. In keeping with the thoughtful specification with which the car was originally ordered, the Porsche has received regular maintenance since new. Stamps in the original service book indicate the dealer service early in its life while a stack of records detail the continuing service through today.

The car started life in Germany and moved to Italy quickly after having been returned to the Porsche factory in 1990. What has become a rarity today is that this car still presents in original paint ! Today; the entire external bodywork still emits a deep glossy shine overall with all glass and lenses remaining clear and free from any cracks or crazing. We can see the original panels front - including sticker - and rear indicated these were of course never involved in any accident. The car presents in beautiful and unmolested condition still with its original D90 wheels and classic mirrors.

As a result of the well maintained condition of this car and its lower mileage, only very light signs of use can be seen on the interior; a testimony to the car's careful owners and the quality of these fine cars. The seats, door cards, switches, door cappings and dashboard are totally unmarked. Carpets and mats also remain in perfect order. No expenses were spared in recent years and a major service was just done by RSC Automobile.

With its lovely color combination, its nice list of options, tool kit, original spare tire, compressor and Porsche pressure meter, original documentation and a lot of invoices and history, this car presents very well today. It is truly a perfect all around car—suitable as transit to a black tie dinner or a weeks long lovely summer vacation, it will look equally stylish at either event and is plenty sporty to make the trip there exciting!

With just over 125.000km's on the odo, it will no doubt appeal to marque collectors, but also presents a great opportunity to get behind the wheel of a stylish and usable modern classic 911.

This car currently has Belgian registration.
